"THE FRIENDS OF LITERATURE"

ARE again solicited for contributions to en- able, us to reinstate the loss sustained in the Library which was nearly destroyed by the con- flagration of one of the buildings of the Platt Spring Academy. Only eighteen months ago we made the commencement of our Library by our own contributions, and with the assistance of our friends, had acquired nearly 300 vols. Those who have embarked in a novel and patriotic de- sign, need not be informed what our feelings are in this loss.

We are too proud to solicit for ourselves al- one. It is a principal law in our constitution, that this Library shall remain, so long as it exists, attached to some literary institution; and those who may feel disposed to contribute, may have the fullest assurance that they are contributing to the benefit of the public. Money, books, or any thing which may be conducive to our de- sign, will be thankfully received, and those who give them, have their names enrolled in the ar- chives of our society, as friends to literature.

Doctors Means and Harris; and James Gregg, Esq. are good enough to receive contributions for us in Columbia.
